

Buffalo Grove High School recently started Advanced Placement Government classes, and today I had the privilege to meet with more than 20 students to discuss pressing issues in the Congress.

I would particularly like to thank teachers Joe Greene and Zach Crandall for providing the opportunity to have a conversation with the students. It's always great to meet with young adults who are engaged in the democratic process.

